

Simple Acts of Caring

From Our President & CEO

I'm deeply grateful for the opportunity to lead Select Health through another year defined by meaningful growth, important achievements, and a steadfast commitment to our mission.

The impact of our community relations efforts this year has been profound. I'm incredibly proud of the progress we've made across all of our markets and the lasting connections we've built with those we serve.

By prioritizing the needs of our members – such as transportation, housing, and food – we continue to empower the communities we serve to live their healthiest lives possible. At the heart of our mission is a belief in health equity: making sure every individual has access to the health services they need so they can achieve their best health.

At Select Health, we know we can't do everything alone. That's why partnering with organizations that address critical needs is essential to ensuring our community members have access to the healthcare and support they deserve. We are so grateful to our community partners for their dedication and impact.

As you read through this report, I hope you feel inspired by the many ways Select Health has engaged with and supported our communities. Guided by compassion and our commitment to making a difference, we're building healthier, stronger communities – together.

Warmest Regards,

Rob Hitchcock

Our commitment

To fulfill our mission of Helping People Live the Healthiest Lives Possible, Select Health is committed to providing great healthcare products and giving back to the communities we serve.

When giving back, we focus on organizations that meet the needs of our community and address relevant social drivers of health. These partnerships allow us to reach the most vulnerable in our community and to help them receive the care they need. Altogether, community outreach reached 1.5 million individuals through more than 600 consumer and business touchpoints, collaborating with 224 partners.

Select Health prioritizes the communities of Colorado, Idaho, Utah, and Clark County, Nevada, because we are part of these communities, and we want our neighbors, friends, and family to be healthy too.

Regional approach

Utah:

Utah is an essential part of the Select Health story. It's where we first put down roots in 1983, and where we've achieved a legacy of service stretching across four decades. We are committed to Utah's communities, and our caregivers are seen at cultural festivals, volunteer opportunities, chamber events, and more.

To further support our community, Select Health signature programs such as the Select Health Awards, Select Health Scholarships, and Brain Body Boost donate to individuals and organizations that support our mission. Our work is driven by our mission in Utah, and all markets, to help people live their healthiest lives possible.

Idaho:

Select Health Idaho continues to show up in communities throughout the state in a big way with a small team. Our involvement ranges from critical social drivers of health organizations to artistic performances, athletic events, conferences, rodeos, and more. Although attending events in person requires thoughtful planning, we make every dollar count in how, when, and where we show up — and our community partners notice.

The responsibilities for community impact are spread throughout our caregiver team with assignments designed through both geographic and line of business considerations. Every financial commitment is thoughtfully considered, and ROI is measured closely. In this highly competitive market, our community investments are critically important and greatly appreciated.

Nevada:

We continued the Select Health Awards in Nevada with ten organizations awarded a one-time $5,000 grant. We increased and maintained our community partnerships aligned with our focus in addressing social drivers of health at a local level. We partnered with more than 30 organizations in 2025 to broaden our impact and presence in the ways that matter most in Las Vegas. Our B2B partnership with Clark County's four Chambers (Latin Chamber, Las Vegas Chamber, Henderson Chamber, and Las Vegas Asian Chamber) continue to be a vital factor in building our brand presence and membership opportunities with large and small employers across the market.

This year, we successfully launched the Select Health Community Space, hosting over 80 events organized by Select Health, Intermountain Health, and mission-aligned community groups. All of these groups were able to use our space free of charge. In recognition of the meaningful connections fostered in our Community Space, Las Vegas HEALS honored Select Health with a Community Partner award.

Colorado:

We deepened our community roots in 2025 to coincide with our growing membership. We use a holistic approach to educate Coloradoans on living their healthiest lives possible. That means supporting nonprofit organizations invested in our priority social drivers of health, leaning into sports collaborations, and meeting people where they are in their communities. From health fairs and Chamber investments, to large-scale community gatherings and senior expos, it was a sincere pleasure to spread the word about Select Health.

Locals may have met us at the American Heart Association Denver Walk, or evrē, UCHealth's annual women's health event, or perhaps caught sight of our presence at a Colorado Rapids game or Denver Pride? We loved saying "Happy Thanksgiving" to our Colorado members at our annual presence supporting Mile High United Way at the Turkey Trot.

It was also a year of planning for exciting things to come in 2026, including a 3-year partnership with Junior Achievement Rocky Mountain to help youth learn about financial health literacy.

Signature programs

Select Health Awards

The Select Health Awards program was launched in 2008 to celebrate Select Health's 25th anniversary. To date, Select Health has donated more than $1 million to community organizations through the Select Health Awards program. In 2024, the program expanded to include Clark County, Nevada in addition to the Utah and Idaho markets.

Thirty organizations working to improve our communities were honored this past year, representing a variety of causes. These included addiction recovery programs, no-cost health services, infant care items, and senior programs.

People Helping People, one of the 2025 Utah winners, primarily helps single mothers find meaningful employment so their families can rise above poverty. This organization serves more than 1,100 women each year with the support of 150 volunteers. This four-phase program begins with helping women create resumes and continues to support them after employment is found. People Helping People also partners with local organizations to identify employment opportunities for program participants.

In 2025 Select Health highlighted three winning organizations- including People Helping People- through TV interviews on ABC4 and FOX13. These interviews highlight the great work happening in the community and promote the awards.

Collectively, more than 400 organizations applied for a Select Health Award. Each award included a $5,000 grant and marketing assets for all markets, along with receptions to celebrate the winners of the Utah and Nevada markets. In addition, Select Health created compilation videos introducing each state's winning organizations, featuring the great work they do in our communities. These videos can be found at selecthealthawards.org.

Brain Body Boost

Brain Body Boost (B3) is our wellness program for grade school educators. It includes two key parts:

- We provide free, ready-to-use lesson plans that teach health education concepts and are easily tailored to fit classroom needs.
- We celebrate educators through the Select Health Brain Body Boost Awards, recognizing those who promote healthy habits in areas including mental health, physical fitness, and nutrition.

In January, we awarded $10,000 to 10 outstanding teachers to help them stock up their classrooms with school supplies and sports equipment.

This year's winners showcased incredible dedication to wellness! Bernadine Winkler, a P.E. teacher at Ensign Elementary, led her school to win a national speed stacking championship. Emma Eversole, a third-grade teacher at Adams Elementary, brings B3 lesson plans to life in her classroom. Brianne Wetsel, a counselor at Oak Hills Elementary, inspires students to stay active and strengthen both body and mind.

Our awards honor teachers who champion wellness and empower them to help children live their healthiest lives.

Select Health Scholarships

Since 2020, our scholarships have provided more than $300,000 in financial aid to students at four colleges in Idaho and Utah. We aim to strengthen the healthcare workforce so that more people in rural and underserved areas can see a doctor when they need one. Students are invited to attend a tour of a hospital that's in our network and spend a "day at Select Health" which includes lunch with our CEO, Rob Hitchcock.

American Heart Association

This year Select Health partnered with the American Heart Association (AHA) to bring awareness to the effects of stress on heart health. The year began with Dr. Kenny Bramwell, Senior Medical Director at Select Health, participating in a news interview promoting Heart Month. Our team went on to participate in AHA Heart Walks in Colorado, Utah, and Las Vegas, Nevada, stretching from June to October. Our largest campaign of the year was our 30 Days of Heart Challenge in September, when we distributed booklets with heart-healthy tips. In addition, our team accompanied the AHA to three community events throughout the year to promote heart health. Through this partnership, Select Health promoted mental well-being and the importance of preventive care for heart health.

Congratulations to our 2025 Select Health Brain Body Boost Awards winners!

Equity

We champion health equity by helping those who are challenged by language barriers, or who are new to the U.S. healthcare system, learn how to enroll in a health plan, find a doctor, pay their out-of-pocket expenses and schedule preventive screenings. Our partners include CBOs, chambers of commerce, and government agencies who help us connect with these vulnerable communities and enable them to succeed and be healthy.

Volunteerism

Select Health not only supports the community with monetary contributions through sponsorships, grants, awards, and scholarships, but also through volunteerism. Select Health caregivers participated in a variety of volunteer activities in 2025, including the United Way Day of Caring, wrapping presents for the Ronald McDonald House, sorting gifts at the Mile High United Way Christmas party, and participating in a food drive for the Central Church in Henderson Nevada. In addition, 13 Select Health caregivers participated on community boards.

Our most notable volunteer activity of the year was the United Way Day of Caring in Salt Lake City, Utah. On September 8, 63 caregivers volunteered at Fitts Park to paint pavilions, clean up creek beds, and pull weeds.

To top it off, Dan Wuthrich, one of the top Select Health caregiver volunteers in 2024, was recognized with the Utah Philanthropy Day “Heart and Hands Award” on December 5, 2025. We were delighted to recognize a caregiver who contributes to the community as a volunteer baseball coach, living the Select Health mission.
